

Environmental Policy

The Standard Patent Glazing Company Limited is concerned about the future of the environment and takes responsibility for the environmental effects of our actions. We are committed to facing the challenges of environmental management. The Company will ensure that it sets objectives and targets that strive for continuous improvement.

The Standard Patent Glazing Company specialises in the design, manufacture and installation of Patent Glazing Systems for contracts anywhere in the UK. We are committed to the effective environmental management of our activities, products and services.

Our glazing products make a significant contribution to the environmental performance of buildings by providing natural light and energy to parts of a building not normally covered by windows. We therefore advise and work with clients so that they can achieve the most practical solutions to their environmental and sustainability issues raised by current legislation and standards.

We are also committed to managing the environmental impact of our activities including those associated with our head office, design and manufacturing facility in Dewsbury.

We will operate to the principles of the international environmental management standard, ISO 14001: 2004, including the principles of the prevention of pollution, compliance with legal requirements and other requirements to which it subscribes and continual improvement. We are also committed to implementing an environmental management system that meets the requirements of ISO 14001 and aim to achieve certification to this standard by 2010. We will achieve this through the phased approach to environmental management implementation as specified in British Standard BS 8555:2002.

This policy is fully consistent with the Company's Health and Safety Policy, Quality Policy and general business practice.
